THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Causasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

The Maine thing in Washington just now is Blaine.—N. Y. World.

Editor Grady, of Georgia, is correct when he says that "one crop never made a country great and never will." Diversify and raise at home what you eat.—Wilmington Star.

The grandson of Harrison has appointed Lincoln's son, Grant's son and Blaine's son to office. How about the Garfield and Arthur boys? Can't uncle Benny do something for them? There should be no partiality.

Last Tuesday was the birthday of Democracy. It is exactly 146 years since the founder of the greatest party on the American Continent was born, and 89 years since he won the great battle of Democracy in the political revolution of 1800.

The Wil. Messenger says:

The actual strength of the State Guard has been increased to 1,600 men. Of this number 1,300 to 1,400 ought to be and probably will be in camp next July.

Yes, there ought to be 1,400, but if the date is not changed to July 30th or July 23rd, at the earliest, there will not be 1,000.

A few weeks since in our editorial correspondence from New York, we said that New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and the adjacent country should all be consolidated under one government and called New York, which would give to America the largest city in the world. We see from the New York papers that a movement has just been started to do that very thing.

The three ships we lost in the hurricane at Samoa cost $3,000,000, the three ships the German Goverament lost cost $1,500,000, only half as much, yet the latter vessels were larger and better than ours. How is this? It is plain enough. Our vessels were built under a high war tariff (which makes all such material cost double what it is worth), and in addition they were built by pets of a Radical administration in 1876-'77-'78.

In 1886 when the legislature of Ohio elected Senator Payne, Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, thought that fraud was used and demanded an explanation. The Senate of the United States decided by almost a unanimous vote that Payne was lawfully elected and refused to investigate, whereupon editor Halstead used very uncomplimentary language about the Senate. The Senate has now condemned his course by refusing to confirm his appointment as minister to Germany.

The last Legislature passed an act allowing the city of Wilmington to reimburse any party, corporation or partnership starting a new manufacturing enterprise in the place for the taxes paid on all capital invested in such enterprises, for a period not exceeding ten years. The tax payers of Wilmington, in their election for aldermen last week, also voted on a proposition to raise $150,000 to reimburse any such parties as come under the above act. This is a big step forward for Wilmington, and we feel sure that new enterprises that will spring up under such favorable conditions will amply reward the place for its liberality and enterprise We now entertain hopes of North Carolina having a great seaport city.

THE LAZY AND THE ENERGETIC.

A Place that is Good for Both.

W. H. Harrison, Jr., in his book, "How to get rich in the South," says:—

"Land is cheap, and the lazy man can live easier and the energetic man get rich faster than in any other country. There is no country that offers such tempting inducements to the capitalist for profitable investments."

This was said by a man who was raised in the North and knows the conditions under which wealth has been accumulated there. It is true that the burdens of a high war tariff does not bear equally on both sections, but while we are fighting for that remedy through legislation, we can in the mean time be doing something toward equalizing matters by starting factories of our own. The last sentence of the above paragraph hints that northern capital ought to come down and develop our country for us; and most of our newspapers are constantly servilely pleading that such may be, or lamenting that it is not the case.

We would prefer to see the South develop itself. But some one says, we have not the capital. Then we say let us make it. A proper spirit of enterprise and co-operation is the most effective capital or rather the most effective producer of capital. In the north the capital is more concentrated, in few hands, while the poor are poorer than with us; in the South the capital is more evenly divided—few very rich and few very poor. Then it is more necessary that we combine and form large stock companies for the development of our resources than with the yankee. If we can't raise a large amount of capital for any one purpose, then let us start small ones and then we will learn by actual experience how to use large capital to the best advantage by the time we have made it. If fact, a capacity to use money safely and wisely is more necessary than money itself. The salvation of the South is in manufacturing, then let us put our heads together to work out our own salvation and not wait for the yankee to come and do it for us. To come nearer home, what can a place like Clinton even be without manufacturing enterprises? It will remain simply what it is. Then will not a spirit of enterprise and co-operation come over our people and let us put our mites together for the common prosperity of our place.

"INDISPENSIBLE TO SUCCESS."

Two Things that Go Hand in Hand.

Mr. W. J. Davis, proprietor of the Racket Store in Charlotte, and who keeps a column advertisemen in the Charlotte Chronicle, says:

"To me, a merchant, newspapers are indispensible to the success of my business. The business man who never advertises never reaches the top. Trying to run a business without advertising is like trying to fly a kite in a dead calm—like a ship without a rudder, a watch without a regulafor, an engine without fuel. A man had about as well go one hundred miles to carry a message and refuse to use the telegraph. Success in business and advertising go hand in hand, the one is essential to the other."

There are a few men in nearly every town who try to fly their business kites in a dead calm which they call dull times. They don't seem to appreciate the value of a live newspaper to a town; or if they do they don't seem to think it their duty to help support what helps them. That man who will stay in a town and reap the benefits of its progress, yet will not turn a penny toward sustaining and promoting its prosperity, has indeed a little soul within him.

Blaine has his son Walker for his private secretary. It is a wonder he didn't take the job of doing the washing for both houses, and give that to Mrs. Blaine.—Deport (Tex.) Times.

THE TRUE BUSINESS MAN.

Horace Greely, in a lecture delivered in 1865, gave the following as his idea of a man of business:

If I were asked to define a business man, I should say that he was one who knew how to set other peoples' fingers to work—possibly their heads also—to his own profit and theirs. This may be in trade, it may be in manufactures, it may be in mechanical arts, or in agriculture; but wherever the man, who, stepping into a new and partially employed community, knows how to set new wheels running, new axes plying; and reapers and mowers in motion, and so of all the various machnery of production, transformation and distribution, or any part of it—he who knows how to do this with advantage to the community, (as he can scarcely fail to do it) and with reasonable profit also to himself, that man is a business man, though he may not know how to read, even; though he may have no money when he commences; though he has simply the capacity—which some possess, and more men aspire to—to make himself a sort of driving-wheel to all that machinery. If he has this, he is a true business man, although he may never have received anything more that the rudest common school education.

In the same lecture he said:—Now, there are everywhere places where such men are needed,—streams running idly over rapids to the sea, and timber waiting for the right man to cut and manufacture it. And all over the world to-day, the capacities the possibilities of wealth, are running to waste, for the want not so much of capitol, though this desirable, as of the informing and directing mind, to set business in motion. In other words there is a general need of business men.

Such men are worth more to a community than capital, for they include capital in their own personalities by creating it. It is not capital so much that we need as the proper spirit to create and use it, for there is enough capital now lying idle in Sampson county, which if put to work in a canning or cotton factory or both, to give an electric thrill to every branch of industry.

CONGRESSMAN McCLAMMY.

The Alexander Progress, a paper published in 8 miles of Washington, writes up a short sketch of each member of the Agricultural committee of the House of Representatives. It has the following to say of Maj. McClammy, which by the way is the longest space given to any member.

Among the quiet but active members of the house you will find Hon. Charles W. McClammy of the third N. C. District. He is graduate of the University of his State and although possessed of a high order of mental endowments and a fluent and ready debater, he is seldom heard in a speech on the floor in the House, but is of that number of active members who get in most of their work in committee.

He is very popular on both sides of the House, and therefore when anything is up affecting the welfare of his constituents, he may be seen moving actively about, and on each side of the House, mixing up with the members generally, and when a vote is reached the result is seen in the success of the side he takes. At times however, he enters the debates and then his clear ringing voice is heard all over the Hall. His constituents have cause to be proud of his record. Although a classically educated man, he did not seek any of the professions, but on retiring from the University after teaching a while, he settled down to be a farmer and untiring energy and push in this pursuit opened the path of success. On the breaking out of the war, he early volunteered, was engaged in most of the hard fought battles, being promoted by Gen. Lee for gallantry and surrendered at Appomattox.

He was mainly instrumental in preventing the striking out of the appropriation for the purchase of seed in the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, making the point of order against the motion, following in an effective speech, his point of order was sustained by the presiding officer, thus securing the appropriation. He has introduced many bills, and among them, one securing appropriations for experiments in the cure of hog cholera and several for widening and deepening the channels of the rivers which flow through his district. He has been specially active in improving the mail service of his district, in establishing new routes, opening new offices and in every way giving attention to this important matter for the people. He is a general favorite, is very popular in the House as well as at home among his constitutents and is taking a high rahk as a legislator in the Congress of the United States.

WAS THERE ANY MUD WASTED IN THIS COUNTY.

Bob Burdett says that God wasted mud when he made the man who is so little as to have the postmaster return a newspaper marked "refused," when he owes two or three years subscription. We have reason to regret that he had so much mud.

THE MAGIC CIRCLE.

SOMETHING INTERESTING ABOUT THE ORIGIN OF THE ENGAGEMENT RING

How it Came to be Worn.

Among the budding male generation of to-day, it is still true, as it was years ago, that "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." It is equally true that the young woman's fancy keeps pace with the time by lightly turning to thoughts of the golden band which, as a natural sequence, shall encircle her taper finger and remind her that she is no louger "self-possessed."

Was it ever your privilege to observe, unobserved, a young woman's conduct toward her newly acquired engagement ring? It feels so strange upon her hand that she cannot help examining it a dozen times each half hour, always, however, on the sly. On the first night she sits up an hour later than usual to admire it boldly in the seclusion of her own apartment. A frequent kiss is administered to the shining band and its glittering gem, and during the night she dreams that it has fallen into a stream and awakens, clutching the finger to assure herself that the precious pledge is still secure.

Then, on the following day, she wears it only in secret, taking care to transfer it to her pocket at table and when in the company of her intimates. But place her among strangers, or among casual acquaintances who cannot be inquisitive, and how bravely will she flaunt the token before their eyes, as one who should say:

"I may not be the loviest creature in the world, but you will observe that I get there all the same."

Gradually it assumes its place in her daily life, and her blushes grow less violent with each succeeding explanation of its significance and each extravagant description of its donor's attributes. But before it finally becomes a part of herself, as it were, she must, of course, leave it a dozen times at least upon the washstand, and suffer in consequence a dozen violent attacks of palpitation of the heart until it is recovered.

In the life of any woman worthy the name, no incident can carry with it a charm and an influence equal to those of the engagement ring, unless it be the first smile of the first born.

Yet, strange as it may appear, not one woman in a thousand knows anything of the origin or primal significance of the finger ring which means so much to to her, or pauses to reflect why it should not be as appropriately placed in her nose or upon her ankle.

It may interest the lady of 1889 to know that the love of finger ornaments, which neither time nor the caprice of fashion can kill or lessen, has survived the wreck of many centuries, and is, indeed, older than history itself. The Egyptian lady, whose portrait adorns her mummy case, is exhibited to us with both hands, thumbs and all, covered with rings.

Just at what period ladies began to wear these ornaments is unknown; but certainly it is that originally they were the exclusive property of the male sex, and were devoted entirely to business purposes. Love had no part in their existence. An old time writer of considerable repute states that among the ancients it was esteemed highly improper for single or unmarried persons to wear rings unless they were judges, doctors or Senators. With all others it was regarded as evidence of vanity or lasciviousness.

WHERE CUPID STEPPED IN.

Later, however, he says, it was permitted to affianced persons to wear this honorable decoration, and this fact is certainly proof of the high honor in which wedlock was held—if the statement be true.

Love's appropriation of the ornament as a token and pledge, is readily explained. Rings were the most intimate, precious and durable objects which men of old—particulaaly the Romans—possessed. A man's ring was his lock and his safeguard; he would set it on a seal which could not be infringed without discovery. Seals were seldom forged, and their employment as keys and signitures was absolutely universal. The stones used were of the hardest, and in the British Museum to-day are many which were made before the Christian era.

With these seal rings forming such an important and general part in daily life, what more complete token of enduring love and faith could a man offer a woman than his seal, or its counterpart? Such a pledge, placed on her hands, gave her at once command of his secrets and of his wealth; indeed, often of his very life.

In this relation, too, there was a custom among the ancients which descended to comparatively modern times, and might with excellent taste be introduced to-day in the use of engagement rings, in place of the super-abundance of castly briliants. This was to make a new seal, containing the portrait of one or both of the lovers. Some of these old portraits still remain to us, and are a telling satire on the advancement of the age. Photography has produced marvels, but what photograph, however perfect, will preserve the features of lovely woman for one-tenth the time which which has passed over these seal portraits of old?

It was this custom of consigning a man's seal to his lady love which gradually led to the adoption, after several centuries, of the ring as an independent female adornment, although it had been so used by the ancient Egyptians ages before the Roman Empire.

LOVE, POLITICS AND SUPERSTITION.

As loves rules the world, so has the fingering, token of love, played its important part in the politics of the world, as well as in its ecclesiastical history. It has been used by kings as a warrant to trusted messengers; by courtiers to bear the portraits of favorite statesmen; by conspirators and criminals to conceal a deadly drug, and, more recently, by pick-pockets to conceal a tiny knife-blade. But above and beyond these various uses Cupid still claims it as a survival of the fittest.

Politics and love have often been sadly mixed in the ring, as in the case of that which Queen Elizabeth gave to the Earl of Essex, and which is now in the British Museum. This ring has been thus described:

"The ring is formed of twin or double hoops, which play within one another, like the links of a chain. Each hoop has one of its sides flat, the other convex, and each is twisted once around and surmounted by a hand issuing from an embossed fancy work wrist or sleeve, rising somewhat above the circle and extending in the same direction. The course of the twist in each hoop is made to correspond with that of its counterpart; so that on bringing together the flat surfaces of the hoops they immediately unite in one ring. On that hand of which the palm is uppermost is represented a heart, and as the hoops close the hands slide into contact. The whole device thus presents a triple emblem of love, fidelity and union."

The selection of the third finger of the left hand for the engagement and wedding rings, too, is due to an ancient belief that a small artery ran from that finger straight to a woman's heart. This belief was universal, although exploded by modern anatomists.

In the early days of our country the Puritans made a strong effort to abolish the custom of wearing rings, as a relic of barbarism, but love laughed at the early fathers of New England.

At the present time no personal ornament is so individual or so intimately associated with the wearer as the ring, and impressions both of taste and character are frequently founded upon it. It therefore behooves the young lady of the period not only to select her rings in general with exceeding care, but to insist that she shall be consulted as to the fashion of her engagement ring—provided, of course, that she doesn't want a diamond as big as the Koh-i-noor.—Cor. N. Y. Star.

IT IS LARCENY.

A newspaper in Ohio recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each case for the amount of each claim. Of these twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more than the law allowed, thus preventing attachment. Then under the decision of the Supreme Court, they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bond while six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—Toledo Blade

APPOINTED BY THE RADICAL ADMINISTRATION TO BIG PLACES.

Halstead Comes to Grief at the Hands of His Political Friends.

[Reg. Cor. CAUCASIAN.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.

Harrison has rewarded another insignificant son of an illustrious father by appointing Robert Todd Lincoln Minister to England. It is certainly a queer appointment, when the delicate relations just now existing between the United States and England are taken into consideration. It would naturally seem that a man of great experience and ability would have been selected as our representation at the court of St. James. Robert Lincoln has neither; he is a lawyer, or rather has been permitted on account of his name, to join a firm of Chicago lawyers, and imagined that he was by legal work earning a living for himself and family. His ability was tested from '81 to '85 when he was Secretary of War, and the general verdict of the great majority of those that had business with him was that he was a regular "chump," suffering with an aggravated case of big head. The only reason that I can see for his appointment is that Blaine prefers a nonentity to represent us in London, because in case of any complications he will have a better excuse for personally taking things in hand, and Harrison in making the appointment was doubtless actuated by sentiment to associate the name of Lincoln with that of Fred Grant who had already been appointed to office, and besides can never forget how much he himself owes to being the grandson of William Henry Harrison.

Murat Halstead, editor of the bloodiest of the bloody shirt organs, the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, has been nominated Minister to Germany. We were about to say, let Bismarck beware now, how he discriminates against American pork, but there is serious doubt about the rantankerous "Fried Marsher" getting to Germany. The Senate has refused to confirm his nomination.

Senators Ingalls, Teller, Plumb, Cullum and Farnell voted with the Democrats against his confirmation, while Evarts and other Republicans did not vote.

Allen Thorndyke Rice, editor of the North American Review, has received his reward for publishin the notorious "Arthur Richmond" attacks on Ex-Secretary Bayard, by being appionted Minister to Russia. It's pretty big pay for very small work.

Blaine has paid off some of his Irish debts by having Pat Egan, who was once president of the Irish National League, appointed minister to Chili. It is to be hoped that there will be no more guano claims brought against that country.

George B. Loring, who was a conspicuous failure as Commissioner of Agriculture, has been appointed minister to Portugal.

The army of office-seekers here is beginning to thin out considerably. Finding that they could not hurry matters by remaining here the most of them have filed their applications and gone home to wait as quietly as they can for the office that may never come.

The old, old story of a man suddenly trying to become greater than his Creator is being once more enacted here. Wannamaker, who was made Postmaster-General by Senator Quay, has dared to recommend a Pennsylvania appointment without consulting Quay. Foolish Wannamaker. Does he think that Quay and Clarkson propose to allow him to monkey with the big offices under the Postoffice Department? Such frivolous ideas may have wandered through his cranium a few days ago, but it is very safe to say they are now all gone glimmering, never to return again. Wannamaker actually had the impudence to offer the postmastership of Philadelphia to a highly respected citizen of that staid old town, who had been known in the near past to vote against the ring nominees of the Republican party. Wannamaker's selection was applauded by the business interest of Philadelphia, irrespective of politics, but when Quay heard of it he got Don Cameron and together they read the riot act to poor Wannamaker and demanded the position for a machine politician. Wannamaker bravely stuck to his friend in spite of all threats from the Senatorial pair. The war was then carried to the White House, and Harrison was assurred that if the nomination of Wannamaker's friend was sent in it would be rejected. Harrison having more political experience than "Cheap John," saw that a compromise would have to be patched up; so Wannamaker was sent for and told that the best way out of the whole trouble would be to get his friend to decline and then to confer with Quay and Cameron as to who should be selected. This was not at all palatable to "Cheap John," but he finally agreed to have his man decline if Quay and Cameron would withdraw their man. And that's the standing of the muddle now.

To use the language of a sporting man, the newspaper men of the Republican party are playing in big luck.

LATER.—A motion was made by Sherman to reconsider the vote to confirm Halstead, but it failed by 19 to 23. Murat will stay at home.

A DISTINGUISHED(?) ARRIVAL IN NEW BERNE.

The Journal says:

"Before the season for winter resort patrons to begin to think of returning home, we have a pioneer of the summer tourist in our midst. A party arrived on Saturday night, or is supposed to have arrived then, as his presence was first discovered that evening, who will make his summer sojourn here, and expects to be joined by a large number during the warm days of July and August. He has large family connections in New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and all through the South, who enjoy a decided reputation for their musical attainments. In fact, our informant states that it was the practicing of a few notes, by the gentleman who arrived on Saturday night, of an old familiar air that attracted attention and gave unmistakable evidence of his somewhat early arrival. He has taken rooms on lower Broad street, and if treated with proper courtesy by the citizens of our place will no doubt remain all summer and draw a large concourse with him. He has a modesty about having his name appear in the newspapers, and therefore is very recticent when interviewed, but an enterprising reporter gathered some light on the subject by the print of his bill, which was plainly Amos Keeter.

The bill introduced in Congress by Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, to establish a system of farm institutes, to be held every year in the different states is, in case its establishment is secured, to be under the control of the new department of agriculture.

Harrison showed his kindness of heart by nominating for foreign missions several men who, after reading the press opinions of themselves, will be glad to get out of the country.—Richmond Dispatch.

Peas.

Why is it our farmers neglect the pea crop to such an extent that they scarcely have seed enough to plant? Every season there is a great demand for seed peas, and we are of the opinion that it would pay a few farmers to make more peas and less cotton. Wilmington's Schools.

In this city there are 7,146 children of school age. Of these 4,511 are black. The sum appropriated is $10,869. Negrophilists and South haters at the North will take note that of this sum $6,756.50 go to the negro schools. Of this sum 90 per cent. at least comes out of the white tax payers.—Wil. Star.

The Rev. H. C. Kishpaugh, of Blairstown, N. J., has had a romantic experience in securing a congenial life partner. While attending a theological seminary in Baltimore a friend showed him the picture of a handsome young woman, living in London, England. So smitten was the dominie with the photograph that he begged of his friend a letter of introduction, which was given, and an interesting correspondence followed. He pursued his studies, graduated with high honors, obtained a church in Michigan, sailed for England in February and shortly after married the lady, who occupied a high social position in London, and is the daughter of Rev. Dr. Marsden, an eminent divine. In all Mr. Kishpaugh has traveled 10,000 miles for his bride.—N. Y. Star.

"The fact that we receive more than 6,000 newspapers per week with our advertisements inserted, indicates the kind of advertising we consider profitable."

BROTHER, IT IS, IT IS!

The Durham Sun asks if this isn't true:

Many merchants think that their names are so well known that they do not need any advertising. They forget that every year brings into trade a new generation of dealers, and closes out a certain percentage of older ones. They also forget how easy it is for one to drop from the calendar of recollection, unless the cobwebs in memory's chain are constantly brushed by keeping one's name before his friends, the public. The fact of letting the public know that you are still in trade brings much grist to your mill that otherwise would stop somewhere else.—Winston Sentinel.

PRESIDENT BATTLE'S LECTURE.

Dr. K. P. Battle has favored us with a copy of his lecture, "A Discussion of some of the Trials and Judicial Proceedings Mentioned in the New Testament," which he delivered last July, before the American Institute of Christian Philosophy, and a few weeks since in Wilmington. The opening sentences of the lecture are as follows:

"When we closely study the secular history of the time covered by the writings of the New Testament, we are surprised, and as Christians deeply gratified, to observe how minutely it harmonizes with the sacred narative. If we could understand thoroughly the character and motives of the various actors therein and the conditions surrounding them, the Holy word would be illumed with meanings new and more clear. With much diffidence I ask you to listen to a brief discussion of some of the judicial proceedings in which appeared as accused Jesus the Christ, the God-man, John the Baptist, His forerunner, and Paul, His specially ordained Apostle. * * *

It must be kept continually in mind that the sacred writers were not acquainted with legal forms, nor were they practised literary men. They were dominated by one controlling idea, which hard-headed men, like Festus, called momomania—that of showing to readers, Christ, His teachings, His suffering, His rising from the dead. They cared not to explain points of history or theories of science or philosophy. Apparent inconsistencies were nothing to them. The sharp eyes of critics so dreaded by modern authors had no terrors for them. They have given word-pictures accurate as photographs, but like all other pictures, to be clearly understood, things not on the canvas must be known."

The doctor then goes on to discuss the trials and executions of John the Baptist and of Jesus Christ, the persecution of Christians, the trials of Paul before Agrippa and Gallio, the beating of Paul and Silas at Phillippi and Thessalonica, and the great trial of Paul at Athens, explaining the manners, customs and laws of the various peoples and countries making clear points and passages which we could not fully understand from a reading of the New Testament alone.

In describing Paul's defense in the last mentioned trial the Doctor says.

"Thus in imitation of his great Master, when the crafty Pharisees endeavored to entagle Him in His talk, did the wise and clear-sighted Apostle, on the awful summit of the Hill of Mars, the Parthenon and all the glory of the Acropolis towering over him, and the Temple of the Furies frowning below him, alone in the mist of the imposing splendor of Grecian mythology, alone in the presence of learned and venerable judges and astute philosophers and a volatile, but keen-witted populace, with serene csurage, under guidance of the Holy Spirit, declare the fundamental truths of our holy religion with such prudence, that some of his baffled enemies could only jest while others could only nurse their sullen suspicions for future inquisitions."

The lecture closes as follows:

"It is wonderful, when the sole object of the Evangelists is followed out with such unvarying singleness of purpose, that incidentally so much information about the history and geography of the country, and the government and occupation of the people, is given."

Then enumerating many of the glimpses of the material, political and social world of that age, as shown through the Bible, he says:

"These and much more appear in their narrative by undesigned glimpses and all are in strict harmony with the facts, known from all other sources, of the history of this era, the most interesting and momentous of all the ages, the era when moved on the earth the wonderful Being, whose teachings, purifying the hear', the fountain of all actions, have raised its inhabitants higher towards Heaven, and will raise them ever upwards, slowly but never receding, each generation eliminating some of the evils of the preceding, until mankind shall be raised to the level of the angels."

A copy can be secured from Wilbur B. Ketcham, 71 Bible House, New York. This lecture will be read and studied by every christian with unusual interest.

July the 9th, the day appointed for the State Guard to go into camp at Wrightsville, is too early. The majority of the members of the Sampson company are farmers, and our farms are not "laid by" till about the 25th of July. This is the case in all Eastern Carolina. We suppose the Western boys could come a little later as conveniently. We hope the Adjutant General will change the date to July 30—August the 9th. This would insure a fuller attendance and, at the same time, give our farmer soldier boys a much needed recreation after the rush of summer work is over. Let us have the change.

1,432 is now the circulation of THE CAUCASIAN and it is daily increasing. During the last six weeks we have mailed 10,000 copies. Help us make it 3,000 per week.

OUR FARMERS' COLUMN.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

☞So many agricultural papers are published and articles written by men, who have little or no practical experience as farmers, that information and suggestions through such mediums have fallen into disrepute, and does but little good. In view of this fact, we wish to get the views and tested plans of practical farmers for this column each week. So farmers, send in an account of your success in any branch of Agriculture, for the benefit of the fraternity.☜

Barnyard manure well rotted, is the preferred sort for strawberries by the majority of growers.

Out of a corn crop of 1,988,000,000 bushels, the largest ever grown, though not the largest in proportion to the population of the country, there has been consumed and distributed up to 1st instant, or within about five months from the ripening of the crop, 1,201,000,000 bushels, or 60.4 per cent. of the whole.

Fertilizers for Next Year.

Our farmers are now hauling the manure from their lots and stables for this year's crop, and now is the time to prepare to buy his guano next year. Don't wait till next Fall to haul surf, wood's mould and straw into your lots, but do it now. Manure is the backbone of the farm and the man who saves and uses it most judiciously will have the most clear money at the end of the year.

WHY PRESIDENTS ARE INAUGURATED ON THE 4TH OF MARCH.

Why Washington was an Exception.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

WASHINGTON, March 25, '89.

Editor CAUCASIAN: You ask, in your issue of the 21st instant, why the fourth of March was selected as the day for the commencement of the Presidential term.

By the end of June 1788, the constitution had been ratified by nine states, a sufficient number to put it into operation among the said nine States But the action of Virginia and New York was awaited before the ratifying States were willing to proceed to the formation of the Federal Government. These two States ratified in July, 1788, and there was great anxiety and impatience to put the new governmental machine y into operation, but all of August and half of September were wasted in the vain effort to agree on a seat of government. Finally, on September 13th, 1888, the Continental Congress, then sitting in New York, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, "That the first Wednesday in January next be the day for appointing electors in the several States which before the said day shall have ratified the said constitution; that the first Wednesday in February next be the day for the electors to assemble in their respective States and vote for a President; and that the first Wednesday in March next be the time, and the present seat of Congress the place, for commencing the proceedings under the said constitution."

This was deemed the earliest possible amount for putting the Federal Government into operation, considering the slowness and difficulty of communication in those days; and it was too early by more than a month, as events proved, for the electoral vote was not counted until the 6th of April, 1789. The President and Vice-President elect had then to be notified and to come to New York from their homes before they could be sworn in. This could not be effectad before the 30th of April, 1789, on which day Washington and Adams were sworn in.

It does not appear that any sentimental reason existed for the selection of the fourth of March, 1789, as the beginning of the Presidential term. The first Wednesday in January was fixed upon for the assembling of the electors, and the first Wednesday in March, which happened in that year to be the fourth—for the inauguration of the Federal Government.

Events failed to come to time in the first Presidential election, but on March 1st, 1792, the quadrennial anniversary of the "first Wednesday in March, 1789," (i. e. the fourth of March) was adopted as the day on which subsequent Presidential terms should begin. The second and all subsequent inaugurations of the President have come off on the fourth of March, when it was not Sunday. X.

☞[THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliances by the County Alliance, January 19th.☜

That man Vines who has been lecturing(?) in the county at the Alliances has done more harm than good. We advise the brethren to close their lodges on such characters.

The Farmers' Alliance now have four warehouses in the State, one here, one at Henderson, one at Reidsville and one at Oxford. All of them, we are glad to know, are being successfully operated.—Durham Plant.

STRAW POND.

Our Alliance has bought sixteen tons North Carolina Phosphate through the county agent. We have gotten it cheaper than ever before We enjoyed the article by the editor of THE CAUCASIAN on home-made fertilizers very much, and will try to adopt his timely suggestions another year by making our own manure.

—The election for "City Fathers" will be held Monday, May 6th. The registration books were opened Tuesday and will remain open till day of election.

—The Commissioners have ordered that the Courthouse Square be adorned with a coat of lawn grass. The gates have been furnished with chain weights to keep them shut, which is very proper, but we can't see of what use the latches are.

—The Sanford Express says:

"A fruit canning establishment has been organized at Keyser, with a capital stock of $3,000.

This writer is well acquainted with the country around Keyser, and the advantages it has for a canning factory, though fairly good, will not compare favorably with those of Clinton and its surrounding country. The factory at Keyser is the result of Northern enterprise, and is in the hands of men who understand the business, and if it can be made to pay at that place, such an enterprise would pay handsomely in Clinton.

—"Sorrow for the Dead," says Washington Irving, "is the only sorrow from which we refrain to be divorced; yet in time even that sorrow becomes a sweet and pensive memory." But a stranger visiting Clinton Cemetery would conclude that instead of a memery it had become a sweet forgetfulness, unless perchance, the ground should be valued for its exuberant growth of broom straw. The Cemetery is now in the corporate limits and we hope "our city fathers" will lose no time in making it respectable, and then, of course, the owners of lots would put their inclosures in corresponding order.

—Virgil, in the Æneid, compares the industry, despatch and zeal with the ancient Tyrians build the city of Carthage to the construction of a bee-hive by the proverbially busy bee. If the delightful classic author could to-day arise from the shades and visit the Carolina Veneer Works his powers of description would be more severely put to the test to describe that busy hive of industry from engine room to garrett. Just imagine several dozen machines all running at the same time and eighty or ninety people all vieing with each other to make so many butter dishes, grape baskets or crates per hour. And this is not all. The work is assuming proportions vastly more immense than even its proprietor originally intended. A dozen or more machines have been ordered. The building is to be enlarged to receive them, and when all is ready there will be between two hundred and three hundred hands employed daily. When work commences on the berry baskets there will be one hundred and fifty hands employed in making those alone. Every inch of the ware-room is now filled and we understand that the large building on the Fair Grounds has been rented in which to store any crates, over ten thousand of which have already been made. We walk from the factory back up town and notice that there is no one idling on the streets, and then remember that at least half of those we saw so busily engaged, would be doing that very thing were it not for this great home enterprise. Now, citizens, what say you to a cotton factory? The stock can easily be raised on the installment plan.

UNION MEETING.

The Next Session to Meet In Clinton.

[Special Cor. Caucasian.]

The Union Meeting of the Western section of the Eastern Association was in session at Boykin's Chapel last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A synopsis of the work is given below.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. H. W. Battle, of New Berne, from Matt. 21, 19.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Query for discussion: What is the Scriptural rule for giving?—discussed by Messrs. Britt, E. Peterson, K. Vann and J. L. Stewart.

SATURDAY MORNING.

Union Meeting convened at 9:30 o'clock. Prayer-meeting conducted by Rev. O. M. Matthis. Query of Friday taken up and discussed at length by Elder J. L. Stewart, after which Elder R. C. Sandlin preached to a large and attentive congregation from Prov. 11, 24. Meeting then adjourned for dinner.

AFTERNOON.

The query, "Does the Discussion of Denominational Differences Conduce to the Cause of Christianity?" was discussed by Elders Britt and Stewart—decided in favor of the affirmative.

Query Committee reported the following queries: "State, Home and Foreign Missions, and the relative importance of each"; "What Is the Duty of the Pastor to the Church?" and "What Is the Duty of the Church to the Pastor?"

Elder J. L. Stewart, F. Fennell and Frank Robinson were appointed a committee to consider and report at the next meeting, the advisability of holding the sessions of the Union Meeting with the churches of the Western section successively.

It was agreed to hold the next session with the church at Clinton.

SUNDAY MORNING.

A Mass Meeting was held in the interest of Sunday Schools and was addressed by R. R. Bell, Esq., and Prof. J. O. Alderman. Closing sermon at 11 o'clock by Elder J. L. Stewart from Matt. 11, 24.

Depots on the C. F. Y. V. Extension.

President Gray was in Sampson last week locating the depots on the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Extention. There will be eleven between Fayetteville and Wilmington. Starting from Fayetteville there will be one about half way between that place and Autry's, a distance of fourteen miles. The next eight miles to near Owenvill; three miles to Hives; six and a half miles to Parker's; four and a half miles to Sloan; six miles to Dr. Murphy's, five miles to John Kerr's; five miles to Hampton; ten miles to Moore's Creek; ten miles to Long Creek; and eleven miles to Wilmington. This gives Sampson nine of the eleven depots. Autry is the first in the county and Hampton is the last. This road will do wonders for Western and Southern Sampson and the revenues from it will be no small items in favor of our tax payers. The grading on the Clinton and Point Caswell road lacks only a few miles of connecting with this road. It should now be built by all means. The road would pass through a fine country and would be an excellent feeder for the extension and in addition would give Clinton two outlets. Suppose we give the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. what we have done if they will build it!

Magazine Table.

The North Carolina Teacher for March is before us, and, as usual, contains interesting information for North Carolina teachers and friends of education generally.

The University Magazine for March is on our table. It contains along with other things of interst a sketch of the life of the late Judge Robert P. Dick from the pen of President Battle, and "A Chapter in Modern History" by George S. Wills.

The Thompson Student, a monthly magazine published by the Literary Societies of Thompsou School, Siler City, N. C., has been received. It is neatly gotten up and reflects credit upon its editors and the institution from which it comes.

NORTH CLINTON.

Mr. J. M. Merritt has a cow that has a calf, the calf has a calf. The last calf sucks its mother and its mother sucks its grandmother. The grandmother gives 2 gallons and the mother gives 1½ gallons of milk a day besides the suckings. To see them all sucking and being sucked at the same time is quite a curiosity.

TURKEY.

I learn from the postmaster that twelve copies of THE CAUCASIAN are taken at this office, and the agent has hopes of increasing the number.

Our farmers have gone into trucking more largely than ever this year, and the railroad authorities have greatly facilitated matters ba giving us an agent at this point, (Elliott)—Mr. Edward L. Faison having been appointed to that position.

How about the canning factory in your town? We hope soon to hear of its being a reality. TURK.

Master Frank Moore found a gold ring a few days since out in a field where the dwelling of Mr. Andrew Thomson, grand uncle of Mr. Curtis Thomson, once stood. Mr. J. W. Moore has the old family Bible which shows that Mr. Andrew Thomson was married in 1739.

NEWTON GROVE.

Miss Flora Monk, who has been away from home for some months, has returned.

Our farmers are not using so much guano as usual this season.

Died: on Wednesday, March 27th, David H. Cox, at the old Cox homestead. He was about 34 years of age, and the cause of his death was consumption.

A vote on local option in the town of Newton Grove will be taken on the first Monday in June. The probability is that the town will go dry by a unanimous vote.

FRANKLIN.

L. H. Bizzell, colored, closed a school last Friday in Dist. 37 with 130 pupils.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

The farmers in this township are putting their fences and ditches in better condition than ever before,—old fences being repaired, new ones built and ditches being cut and cleaned out. This means that we will be better farmers in the future.

DISMAL.

The Union Meeting of the South River Association convened at Long Branch Church on last Friday. The next meeting will be held at Salem Church, commencing on Friday before the 5th Sunday in June.

The answer to the question asked by the McDaniels correspondent is Jonah, the man who spent three days and nights in the abdomen of the great fish.

Married: at the residence of Mr. Mark Carter, on the 28th ult., Mr. Raiford Hall to Miss Malinda J. Hall, daughter of Mr. Albert Hall of Little Coharie, J. R. Maxwell, J. P., officiating.

Mr. H. McD. Robinson, of the Fayetteville Bar, was in this section last week on business.

D. R. A.

LITTLE COHARIE.

Misses Metie Moore and E. Mathis accompanied by Messrs. Wellie, Lake and Lemon Mathis and John Moore, of Waycross, have been visiting in this section.

There was an enjoyable dance at the residence of Mr. Luther Mathis on the night of the 23rd ultimo.

Mr J. K. Sessoms, one of our most promising young men, left on the 25th ult for Georgia, there to engage in business. He carries the esteem and best wishes of the good people of Little Coharie with him.

Miss Sarah C. Harris, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. J. R. Harris, of Owenville, has returned to her home in Greensboro.

Mr. Joe Sutton and wife, of Goshen, have been visitng at Mr. J. D. O. Culbreth's.

Mrs. John Sessoms, of Cumberland, has been visiting relatives in Sampson.

Our blacksmith, Mr. J. D. Owens, has repaired his shop and is better prepared to do good work than ever. PLUG.

The first shipment made on the C. F. & Y. V. Extension was 60,410 lbs. of corn to Capt. J. L. Autry.

LISBON.

Col. Julius A. Gray, President of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R., and Hon. Geo. M. Rose of Fayetteville, were the guests of Dr. Henry Sloan, of Ingold, last Sunday.

HALLS.

Farmers are preparing to plant. A great deal of home made fertilizers will be used in this section; as well as a good quantity of standard brands of guano.

In the issue of THE CAUCASIAN of March 21st, the man of Adam's race mentioned by X of McDaniels, who had a home neither on earth, in heaven nor in hell, must have been a newspaper editor who was forced to emigrate to purgatory to find his delinquent subscribers, or a country school teacher employed at five cents a pupil for tuition, perished and was consigned to the same country for what he said and thought about his employers who did not pay him. W. J. C.

MINGO.

A man in this township entered a house and stold a lady's ear rings, in a few days the same rogue entered the house again and was pocketing a finger ring belonging to the same lady—she caught him in the act and made him give up both pieces of stolen property. She gave him a good lecture and let him off with the promise that he would never steal again.

HONEYCUTTS.

There was a much enjoyed quilting party at the residence of Mr. John R. Cooper one day this week. A nice supper followed.

Salem High School has adopted Mrs. Spencer's "First Steps in N. C. History" and the work is very much liked by both teachers and pupils.

Mr. J. H. Turlington is recovering from the painful injury he received at his saw mill two weeks ago.

Mr. Bennett Butler has wheat 18 inches high and no guano was used either. We are convinced that good home-made manure is the best.

SOUTH CLINTON.

Salem Items.

[By the Pupils of Salem High School.]

Our school is doing well. We think we have made better progress than usual during the last month.

We hear much comment from our teachers, and from those who live in the neighborhood, about the improvement in THE CAUCASIAN, and we are all delighted with it. Mr. Editor it would do you good to be with us some Thursday morning when the mail is brought to us, just to hear the scholars asking for THE CAUCASIAN.

Mr. John A. Beaman, of Beaman's Cross Roads, gave us a pleasant call We are always delighted to have persons interested in Salem work to visit us.

We are all delighted with Mrs. Spencer's "First Steps in North Carolina History." Our principal has ordered some of the books and there is a class now studying them, and the remainder of us have been reading it with much interest. None of us have seen Mrs. Spencer, but feel sure she must be a charming woman from the manner in which she addresses herself to the children. We want to see all the schools use her book, and all the pupils love her as we do.

The "Girl's Reading Circle" is doing well. The members had an interesting discussion recently upon the question: "Are the Mental Capacities of the Sexes Equal?" The discussion was long, animated and interesting. Wit and humor were or the affirmative, but argument on the negative, and of course the decision wes given to the latter.

Salem Church has just received a handsome new organ. Miss Mamie White is organist, and of course the church music is much better now.

Wake Forest.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, N. C., March 30th, 1889.

Mr. Editor: I ask for a short space in your highly appreciated and much improved paper to compliment you upon its improvement, and to let our Sampson friends know that we are not dead, but still waiting to see June come, that we may be found wandering in the huckleberry ponds of "sweet Sampson," with a jingling bell around our necks as we go in search of "big blues."

When I first arrived here some months ago I was somewhat surprised to find every thing as it appeared to me in a dilapidated condition, and beautiful flower gardens presenting every appearance of care, thrown open to the mercy of stock, and immediately I looked for the rooting pig and troublesome yearling; but, upon inquiry I was told that it was only the no-fence law.

Your readers can't imagine the comfort that is enjoyed by a man that lives within the boundaries of the no-fence law, nor can you estimate the advantages that are derived from it until you are so fortunate as to live within its boundaries, and then you will be forever in favor of it.

Wake Forest foot-ball team has beaten the Trinity team which gives us the championship.

The farmers around here seem to be slow in beginning their crops.

There are 219 pupils enrolled so far and from all indications there will be a good many more next session. SENTRAM.

Why Not Clinton Try It Too?

The Wilmington Messenger, in Speaking of the canning industry, says:

"It will pay and we can get up a factory on the instalment plan. One thousand dollars will give us a fair start and the young men might even raise this small amount. Durham's canning factory was started on a small scale, and it has been so profitable that it will be enlarged this season. Why not Wilmington try it?"

No man or place has ever accomplished anything by halting, doubting and fearing to venture. We have to take some risk in everything. But it is almost a certainty—in fact it is a reasonable certainty that a canning factory would pay here. Such an industry, if properly managed, is bound to pay here if it will pay anywhere. What is the use of waiting another year? Let us start this enterprise now, and next year we can start some others.

Ably Edited.

We are pleased to note an improvement in the Clinton CAUCASIAN. It has a new dress and is enlarged. The CAUCASIAN is ably edited by Marion Butler, Esq. We wish it a long life and continued prosperity.—Windsor Public Ledger.

Personals.

Mr. J. C. Slocumb is in town on a visit.

Mr. R. C. Holmes is in Goldsboro on business.

One of the Best Papers that Goes to Shepard.

The postmaster at Shepard, N. C., inclosing us the names of some new subscribers, says:

"I think I can do good work with the CAUCASIAN in its new dress. I esteem it one of the best papers that comes to Shepard. Long may it live and prosper. S. L. FARICLOTH."

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.
PAUL SHERARD,
The Clinton Barber.

CLINTON, N. C., — APRIL 4, 1889.

A CORNER ON JOKES.

The funniest corner of recent years, according to Max O'Rell, is that in jokes, which, he says, was engineered by Chauncey M. Depew and General Horace K. Porter. These two wits are alleged to keep their ears open in horse cars, and, wherever they meet with crowds, for new jokes and funny incidents, but they boycott everything that appears in print. Then, it is said, they compare notes, make a fair division, according to the opportunities which they may have had to work off their jokes, and go their way rejoicing ripe for an after dinner speech or a political ovation. This queer arrangement is alleged to have sprung from the embarrassing fact General Porter got off a new joke at a dinner at the Brunswick one night, and when Mr. Depew told the same thing the next evening at Delmonico's they hung the chesnut bell on him.—N. Y. Star.

Physicians Confess.

All honest, conscientious physicians who give B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial, frankly admit its superiority over ALL other blood medicines.

Dr. W. J. Adair, Rockmart, Ga., writes: "I regard B. B. B. as one of the best blood medicines."

Dr. A. H. Roscoe, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "All reports of B. B. B. are favorable, and its speedy action is truly wonderful."

Dr. J. W. Rhodes, Crawfordsville, Ga., writes: "I confess B. B. B. is best and quickest medicine for rheumatism I have ever tried."

Dr. S. J. Farmer, Crawfordsville, Ga., writes: "I cheerfully recommend B. B. B. as a fine tonic alterative. Its use cured an excrescence of the neck after other remedies effected no perceptible good."

Dr. C. H. Montgomery, Jacksonville, Ala., writes: "My mother insisted on my getting B. B. B. for her rheumatism, as her case stubbornly resisted the usual remedies. She experienced immediate relief, and her improvement has been truly wonderful."

A prominent physician who wishes his name not given, says: "A patient of mine whose case of tertiary syphilis was surely killing him, and which no treatment seemed to check, was entirely cured with about twelve bottles of B. B. B. He was fairly made up of skin and bones and terrible ulcers."

JOHN BULL vs. UNCLE SAM.

An American Girl who Marries an English Husband Compares Social Life Under the Two.

Now, again, there is another reason why we like England. We are [illegible] more thought of here when married than in our own country. In America the girl, it is true, is paramount. There she is the center of social life, while over here the girl is only a graceful and pleasing figure of the background. But marriage distinguishes the English women; it extinguishes the American. To be a girl in America and a matron in England is to obtain the maxium of deference and homage. We are not averse to receiving both. L.

Poisoned by a Calf.

My little boy broke out with ulcers and sores, the result of the saliva from a calf's mouth coming in contact with a cut finger. The ulcers were deep and very painful, and showed no inclination to heal. I used quite a number of remedies, with no benefit, but got Swift's Specific, and he improved with the first few doses, and in a short time was sound and well of the poison, and his general health much improved.
JOHN T. HEARD.
Auburn, Ala., February 15, 1889.

In 1883 I contracted Blood Poison of bay type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilla mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took seven small bottles S. S. S., which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned. J. C. NANCE.
Hobbyville, Ind., Jan. 10, 1989.

Swift's Specific is entirely vegetable, and cures Blood Poison by forcing the taint out through the pores of the skin. Send for treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free.

JAMES MEANS' $3 & $4 SHOES
"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is, or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailer for the James Means' $3 Shoe, or the James Means' $4 Shoe according to your needs. Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.

MADE ALSO TO IN BUTTON & CONGRESS
JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE
UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE
CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
JAMES MEANS' SEAMLESS $3 SHOE
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means' $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide-awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

THE CAUCASIAN.
A WEEKLY
DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER, PUBLISHED AT
CLINTON, N. C.
MARION BUTLER, Editor and Proprietor.

Our Paper is now printed with new type on a new Campbell Power-Press.

ITS MOTTO
PURE DEMOCRACY AND WHITE SUPREMACY.

PURE DEMOCRACY.

THE CAUCASIAN is a Cleveland Democrat—believes in first reducing the Tariff to a revenue basis and then dealing with the Internal Revenue. It believes in cheap bread, cheap clothes and cheap tools, which will leave us enough clear profit to educate our children without being enervated with Federal bounties which we believe to be simply a Radical trick for keeping up a high protective tariff.

We believe in the prosperity of forty-nine millions even if it should work to the detriment of one million.

WHITE SUPREMACY.

We are forever in favor of the present system of County Government as long as there is a single county that is saved by it from African and Scallawag rule. We will forever preach that the is a CAUCASIAN GOVERNMENT, founded by the courage framed by the wisdom and won by the Patriotism of white men, for the benefit of all citizens alike. Therefore it is of right, ought to be and must be MANAGED BY WHITE MEN ONLY.

THE CAUCASIAN.
"One of the handsomest weekly lies papers in the State."—Wilmington Messenger.

For the last twelve months has spent money freely for various improvements, with the fixed determination to become the best local paper in North Carolina, and no further effort within our power will be spared till we are convinced by the grateful support of 3,000 subscribers that we have reached and passed that goal.

THE CAUSCAIAN
contains the most important FOREIGN NEWS, a brief statement of important NATIONAL NEWS, a fuller account of STATE NEWS, and a detailed statement of COUNTY NEWS.

As a proof that we are doing this we again quote from the Wilmington Messenger:

"THE CAUCASIAN is the fullest and about the best of all our exchanges, and pays more attention to local matters in the county by townships, than any of its cotemporaries."

Clinton and Wilmington markets carefully reported each week.

PRICE OF SUBSCRIPTION.
THE CAUCASIAN
One year, (52 copies) $1.00
Six months, (26 copies) .75
Four months, (17 copies,) .50

We insist upon your subscription when your name is entered on the list, for it enables us to give you a better paper.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.
THE CAUCASIAN has now 1,000 bona fide subscribers, besides we are constantly sending out large numbers of sample copies.
We have agents in the field and our subscription list is daily increasing. We have now, we think, a larger subscription list than all the other papers that come to this county combined. Therefore no advertising medium can be found to compare with it.
Notwithstanding these facts we will for the next two months give cheaper rates than any other paper with equal circulation in Eastern Carolina.
